BEE FRIENDLY

Denver Golf's environmental friendly initiatives

This month our Bee Friendly program highlights Denver Golf's new golf cart and equipment fleet!

Overland, Willis Case and Wellshire have new carts with ion lithium batteries instead of lead acid batteries. Not only do the new carts last longer, they have many environmental benefits as well.

ZERO maintenance on a lithium ion battery pack. Old school lead acid batteries required constant maintenance which includes battery filling, cleaning, preventative maintenance and plenty of opportunities for human - error.

- Incredibly clean and safer electric power. When charging, the old lead acid batteries release hydrogen gas and sulfur that corrode battery terminals and destroy golf cart frames and concrete floors.
- The lithium ion battery pack makes the cart 334 pounds lighter than the lead acid battery golf cart. That makes a huge improvement in performance of the cart as well as less weight on the golf course turf.
- Golfers should enjoy a more consistent power and acceleration out of these carts because of the potential increased reliability and performance of a lithium ion power source. .
- Some of Denver Golf's highest energy consumption is related to charging golf carts. As lead acid batteries age, they become more needy and require more and more power even though they lose battery charging capacity. Lithium ion batteries are likely to maintain the same performance and energy demands long into their life, so we expect to see an improvement in our power usage to charge carts.

New turf equipment is more tech savvy and state of the art. We are excited about some of our new Toro fleet's features such as:

- All of the new diesel equipment now meet standards for Tier 4 emissions. This is a big deal especially considering how our Denver metro area struggles with air quality. Due to the Tier 4 emission technology, we are required to keep our engines running at full RPM – so please be patient with our operators, there is a good reason they are not idling down the new mowers. We need to run this equipment a full throttle to keep the emissions equipment at peak performance. We low idle, carbon builds up and can cause extensive and expensive damage.
- Wireless hour meters on the equipment send a signal to our equipment management system each time they enter the shop. This helps us keep our equipment in top shape by knowing daily where they are on maintenance intervals.

COURSE UPDATES

City Park Redesign Updates

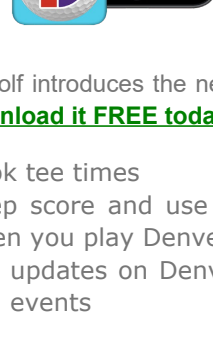

Work continues on the driving range and the Firrst irrigation, topsoil and seeding.

Golf course irrigation is operational where seed and new trees have been installed — the water being used is recycled and provided by Denver Water.

Construction of the new clubhouse continues. Mechanical / electrical rough in is nearly completed. Drywall is going up inside the clubhouse and exterior brick is largely completed. Concrete paving, sidewalks and curbs are ongoing. Roofing is completed and glazing continues.

Curb and gutter installation is nearly complete and the parking lot will be paved in April.

City Park Golf Course will reopen once the turf is established. Weather plays a significant role in turf establishment and maturation. Denver Golf wants to ensure that the playing surfaces at City Park Golf Course are mature enough to endure play without damaging the golf course. Denver Golf strives to provide great playing conditions and a positive experience to our guests.
